

Feminists Reclaim Mentorship
An Anthology

Edited by Nancy K. Miller and Tahneer Oksman

Published by SUNY Press, 2023

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgments

Introduction: Mutual Engagements
Nancy K. Miller and Tahneer Oksman

Part I. Two-Way Streets: Finding Mentors / Becoming Mentors

Rosemarie's Hands
Rachel Adams

Tears, Idle Tears: Mentoring English Graduate Students from 1973 to 2010
Susan Gubar

The Making of an Intellectual: Mentoring, Mothering, and a Black Feminist Journey
Michele Faith Wallace

When Am I Supposed to Stop Asking You for Advice?
Hillary Chute

Mentorship: By Any Means Necessary
Sharifa Hampton

The Accidental Mentor
Jennifer Crewe

Can a Therapist Be a Mentor?
Kamy Wicoff

The Reluctant Writer: Looking Back on My Mentors
Sarah Glazer

"That was where I felt most myself ": A Conversation with Sarah Burnes about Books, Mentors,
Feminism, and Mothers
Tahneer Oksman

How I Came to America and Discovered Female Mentors
Mikhal Dekel

Rainmaker: How a Mentor Transformed My Destiny
Michelle Yasmine Valladares

Transformative Adaptations: Tracking Fay Gale as a Teacher
Elizabeth Wood

Dear Ant
Aoibheann Sweeney

Part II. Rearview Mirror: Mentoring at a Distance

Ready
Joy Ladin

Mentor Ghosts
Siri Hustvedt

Writing Letters to Ghosts: On Meena Alexander's Posthumous Mentorship
Ashna Ali

Part III. The Traffic in Mentors: Horizontal Scripts

Widening the Way: An Interview with Dána-Ain Davis
Nancy K. Miller

Navigating Distance and Self-Doubt through Multiple Mentors
Angela Francis

All the Angry Young Women
Elizabeth Alsop

Mentoring and #MeToo
Leigh Gilmore

The Mentor as Mirror
Melissa Coss Aquino

Among Friends
Sarah Chihaya

A Chorus, Not a Monologue
Melissa Duclos

The Group (Text), or the Small Stuff
Sarah Blackwood

On Leaning Out
Laura Limonic

A Special Place in Hell: Women Helping Women and the Professionalization of Female Mentorship
Angela Veronica Wong